

Julia Felchlin Arick
Vice President
Caribbean Island Apparel

Julia Felchlin Arick is the Vice President of Caribbean Island Apparel, an apparel manufacturing company, located in Port-au-Prince, Haiti. Julia moved to Port-au-Prince at the age of 1 when her father founded Caribbean Island Apparel. After spending most of her early childhood in Port-au-Prince, her family moved to Guatemala, New Orleans and finally returned to her birth place Athens, Georgia where she completed her middle, high school and college education. After graduating from the University of Georgia in 2006, Julia returned to Haiti to work in her family's business. As the Vice President of Caribbean Island Apparel, Julia plays many roles including daily operations manager, social compliance, CSR programs for employees, and Health and family planning programs in the factory. She currently resides in Port-au-Prince with her husband Stephen and their two children Fritz and Charlotte.