

Michael Kaufman
Co-Founder, White Ribbon Campaign; and
Senior Fellow, Instituto Promundo

Michael Kaufman, Ph.D., is a speaker and writer focused on engaging men and boys to promote equality between men and women, promote involved fatherhood, and end violence against women. Over the past three-and-half decades, he has worked in almost fifty countries, including extensively with the United Nations, numerous governments, NGOs, women's organizations, universities, and businesses.

Dr. Kaufman has spoken to diverse corporate audiences, including Unilever, Microsoft, PepsiCo, Accenture, HP, Deloitte, and Triumph International.

He is the co-founder of the White Ribbon Campaign, the largest effort in the world of men working to end violence against women. He is a Senior Fellow with Instituto Promundo.

Dr. Kaufman is the author or editor of eight books, including two novels. His articles have been translated into sixteen languages. He is the co-author of the recent State of the World's Fathers report.

Married with two grown children, he lives in Toronto, Canada. www.michaelkaufman.com
Twitter: @GenderEQ